GRAMMATICA

► p.28

EXPRESSING EMOTIONS

Mi sento a mio agio / a disagio

Mi sento ridicolo/a

Sono nervoso/a quando / se parlo in pubblico.

Sono soddisfatto/a

Sto male / bene

Mi vergogno

Ho paura di non ricordare cosa devo dire.

Faccio fatica a parlare con persone che non conosco.

VERBS WITH PREPOSITIONS

Provare a + infinitive

Prova a usare tecniche di respirazione se sei nervoso.

Riuscire a + infinitive

Tu riesci a comunicare bene in situazioni formali?

Cercare di + infinitive

Cercate di leggere di più, se volete scrivere bene.

DIRECT PRONOUNS

The direct pronouns lo, la, li, le are used when speaking about people or objects which have been previously mentioned – the listener knows what we are referring to. They agree in gender and number with the noun they are replacing as a direct object.

Adoro il mio computer! Lo uso tutti i giorni.

La bicicletta? La uso per andare al lavoro.

Ho tante scarpe da ginnastica, le metto anche al lavoro.

Gli occhiali da sole li trovo molto eleganti.

THE PARTITIVE NE

It is used to talk about a certain amount or part of something which is clearly identifiable.

Uso spesso le matite colorate, ne ho tante.

CE L'HO, CE LI HO, CE LE HO

The construction ce + avere + direct pronoun lo, la, li, le is used to express ownership, possession.

Il mio computer è un Mac, ce l'ho da tanti anni.

• Hai la bicicletta?

◦ Sì, ce l'ho pieghevole, è comodissima.

I trucchi ce li ho sempre in borsa.

Sì, uso matite colorate. Ce le ho sulla scrivania.

PAST INFINITIVE

The past infinitive is formed using the auxiliary verbs essere or avere in the present infinitive + the past participle of the main verb. The auxiliary avere usually drops the final vowel e:

Di solito, avere perde la vocale finale:

aver(e) fatto

essere andato/a

PREVIOUS AND FOLLOWING ACTIONS

Prima di + infinitive

Prima di finire l'università, ho trovato un buon lavoro. (= Ho trovato un buon lavoro e poi ho finito l'università.)

Dopo + past infinitive

GRAMMATICA

► p.44

ESSERE and ESSERCI

The verbs essere and esserci can be used to express where something or someone is. We use esserci if the first information is the place, position or location; on the contrary, if the first information is the object or person, we use essere.

*Il bagno è a sinistra.
A sinistra c'è il bagno.
La camera e il bagno sono al primo piano.
Al primo piano ci sono la camera e il bagno.*

i c'è + singular, ci sono + plural

EXPRESSIONS OF PLACE

They are used to express the location of people or objects.

*Il bagno è a destra e la camera matrimoniale è a sinistra.
La cucina è in fondo al corridoio.
Il bagno è fra / tra lo studio e la camera.
Il comodino è accanto al / a fianco del / al lato del letto.
Di fronte alla libreria c'è una poltrona.*

COMPARATIVES

The comparative form is used when comparing two people or things.

The majority comparative is formed with:
noun + essere + più + adjective + di + noun

La casa di Linda è più grande della casa di Giulia.

The minority comparative is formed with:
noun + essere + meno + adjective + di + noun

La casa di Giulia è meno grande della casa di Linda.

The second element, of the two compared, is introduced by che when there is a preposition before the noun and when two adjectives are compared.

Nello stile classico moderno la monocromia è più frequente che nello stile vintage.

La poltrona è più comoda che bella.

The equality comparative is formed with:
noun + essere + adjective + come / quanto + noun

*Il desiderio di "salto indietro nel tempo" è fondamentale quanto il principio di riciclo.
Nello stile classico moderno, l'ordine è importante come la concretezza.*

THE PASSATO PROSSIMO

AUXILIARY	+	PAST PARTICIPLE
ho hai ha abbiamo avete hanno	+	parlato ricevuto dormito
sono sei è siamo siete sono	+	andato/a andati/e

All transitive verbs require the auxiliary avere. The following verb categories require the auxiliary essere:

- reflexive verbs (lavarsi, vestirsi etc.)
- verbs which express a change of state/condition (nascere, diventare etc.)
- verbs which express stasis or immobility (essere, stare, rimanere etc.)
- some verbs which express movement (andare, venire, entrare etc.)

i Several verbs which express movement require the auxiliary avere: camminare, viaggiare, nuotare, passeggiare etc.

IMPERFECT INDICATIVE

The imperfect tense is used to describe people, objects, locations or situations of the past.

La mia casa era molto grande e aveva tante stanze. Nel giardino c'era una casetta di legno.

i The auxiliary essere is irregular when conjugated in the imperfect tense.

CF Arredare gli spazi di una scuola

- Think about your school and decide which area you would like to decorate (library, classroom, canteen, reading-room etc.)
- Decide on style, furniture, furnishings. You can use the Internet to find information and pictures.
- Draw the area layout or create a collage of pictures.
- Make a presentation to your class using the layout or collage and explain your choices. Lastly, decide which idea is the most original.

WORKING STRATEGIES

Drawings are a great help to gain perspective, memorize vocabulary and have a clearer understanding of the grammar.

If you make a digital layout, you can post it in the virtual classroom so that your classmates can give their opinions.

CF Preparare una presentazione per confrontare il design di varie epoche

- A. Choose a decade of the twentieth century and research information about the design of the same period in your country.
- B. Choose some furniture, home furnishings and appliances which are a typical example of the design of that time. Make a presentation with descriptions and pictures.
- C. Expand your presentation by adding information: make a comparison between the design of the period you have chosen and the contemporary design.
- D. Submit your presentation to your classmates.

WORKING STRATEGIES

The research will introduce new vocabulary: write it down and translate it into your own language to learn and memorize the meaning. Sharing the new vocabulary with the class is a useful tool to clear doubts and correct mistakes.

You can share your presentation by posting it in the virtual classroom or on a social network: other users may give you ideas and suggest ways to expand the content.

facevi	eri	bevevi	dicevi
faceva	era	beveva	diceva
facevamo	eravamo	bevevamo	dicevamo
facevate	eravate	bevevate	dicevate
facevano	erano	bevevano	dicevano

THE USE OF IMPERFECT AND PASSATO PROSSIMO TENSES

The passato prossimo is used when talking about a fact of the past.

Mia nonna Caterina è andata a scuola nel 1964. Dopo cinque anni di studi, mi sono laureata al Politecnico di Milano.

The imperfect is used to describe a fact or situation that lasted an indefinite time in the past.

Quando vivevo in città ero molto stressata.

We use the imperfect when we talk about an action or situation which is still ongoing at a specific moment in the past.

Quando ero a Bruxelles, pensavo all'Italia.

We use the passato prossimo when we talk about a past action or situation presenting it as finished, complete.

Quando ero a Bruxelles, ho conosciuto il mio fidanzato.

We use the passato prossimo when we refer to the specific time frame of a situation or condition in the past, from beginning to end.

Sono stato a Bruxelles dal 2012 al 2014.
Ho lavorato tutta la sera.

We use the imperfect when we describe past recurring actions.

Mia nonna Caterina andava sempre a scuola a piedi.

TIME CONNECTORS

They are used to express the order of events, the sequence in which actions take place.

Prima

Prima andavo in bicicletta, ora in monopattino.

Poi

Ho studiato a Firenze, poi mi sono trasferita a Roma.

Sempre

Aiutavo sempre i miei compagni durante le verifiche.

Ogni giorno / tutti i giorni

Andavo a correre tutti i giorni.

Ora / adesso

Prima usavamo il pennino con l'inchiostro, adesso usiamo la penna biro.

Dopo

Prima ho fatto un tirocinio, poi ho trovato un lavoro a tempo determinato. Dopo ho partecipato a un concorso e ora lavoro a tempo indeterminato.

CI APPUNTAMENTI

Write a list of useful expressions when having to call a professional and make an appointment.

GRAMMATICA

▶ p.78

THE VERBS POTERE AND SAPERE

POTERE	SAPERE
posso	so
puoi	sai
può	sa
possiamo	sappiamo
potete	sapete
possono	sanno

The verb sapere, when followed by an infinitive, expresses the ability to perform an action defined by the infinitive.

Sai riparare la bicicletta?

The verb potere followed by an infinitive expresses the ability to perform an action defined by the infinitive as the external circumstances allow it.

So riparare la bicicletta, ma oggi non posso perché non ho i pezzi di ricambio.

PRONOUNS WITH THE INFINITIVE

When the verbs are in the infinitive form, the pronoun is joined to the ending of the verb so to form one single word.

L'aspirapolvere? Ci penso io a sistemarla!

When we have a verb + infinitive, the pronoun can be placed:

- before the conjugated verb.

Mi puoi aiutare?

Li sai sistemare?

- After the infinitive.

Puoi aiutarmi?

Sai sistemarli?

-  Whenever the pronoun follows the infinitive, the infinitive drops the ending -e.

Puoi aiutarmi a spostare la scrivania?

PAST PARTICIPLE AGREEMENT WITH DIRECT PRONOUNS AND THE PRONOUN NE

With the direct pronouns lo, la, li, le and ne the past participle agrees with the object in gender and number. The singular forms lo and la are marked with an apostrophe; the plural forms li and le aren't.

- 1 Hai comprato le viti?
- 1 Sì, le ho comprate.
- 1 Hai comprato le viti?
- 1 Ne ho comprate solo dieci, quelle che mi servono per sistemare l'armadio.

STARE + GERUND

The construct stare + gerund is used to express an ongoing action.

The gerund is not conjugated and is formed as follows:

guardare → guardando

leggere → leggendo

aprire → aprendo

-  fare → facendo
dire → dicendo

- 1 Che cosa stai leggendo?
- 1 Le istruzioni per montare gli scaffali.
- 1 Dove stai andando?
- 1 Da Mario, voglio aiutarlo a riparare la moto.

THE PRESENT CONDITIONAL TENSE

FARE (= to do, to make)	POTERE (= can, to be able to)	DOVERE (= must, to have to)	VOLERE (= to want)
farei	potrei	dovrei	vorrei
faresti	potresti	dovresti	vorresti
farebbe	potrebbe	dovrebbe	vorrebbe
faremmo	potremmo	dovremmo	vorremmo
fareste	potreste	dovreste	vorreste
farebbero	potrebbero	dovrebbero	vorrebbero

ESSERE	AVERE
sarei	avrei
saresti	avresti
saresti	avrebbe
saremmo	avremmo
sareste	avreste
sarebbero	avrebbero

The present conditional tense is used in the following situations:

- to make a polite request;
 - Potresti aiutarmi a potare le piante? (tu)
 - Potrebbe dirmi quando può venire a riparare il televisore? (Lei)
- to give advice (or opinions);
 - 1 Il nostro giardino è un disastro...

▶ p.112

COMPARATIVE AND SUPERLATIVE FORMS OF BUONO, BENE, GRANDE AND PICCOLO

The adjectives buono, grande, piccolo and the adverb bene have irregular forms when used as comparative and superlative.

	COMPARATIVE	RELATIVE SUPERLATIVE	ABSOLUTE SUPERLATIVE
buono	più buono / migliore	il migliore	buonissimo / ottimo
grande	più grande / maggiore	il maggiore	grandissimo / massimo
piccolo	più piccolo / minore	il minore	piccolissimo / minimo
bene	meglio	il migliore	benissimo

THE COMPARATIVE

La mia poltrona è migliore della tua.
 La percentuale di uomini che acquista computer è maggiore/minore di quella delle donne.
 Con la radio nuova sento meglio che con quella vecchia.

ABSOLUTE SUPERLATIVE

It expresses the highest degree of a quality, without any term of comparison.
 Questo smartphone è ottimo.
 Quel negozio ha la mia massima fiducia.

RELATIVE SUPERLATIVE

It expresses the maximum degree of a quality within a certain group.
 Questa è l'offerta migliore di tutte.
Gli acquisti maggiori avvengono il fine settimana.
Il fratello minore di Alberto si chiama Gabriele.

THE RELATIVE PRONOUNS

CHE

It is used as a subject or direct object and is invariable in gender and number.

Aumentano i consumatori che fanno acquisti online. (subject)
 Gli elettrodomestici che vedi in vetrina sono in offerta. (direct object)

CUI

It is used as an indirect object; it comes after a preposition and is invariable in gender and number.
 Preferisco comprare da un negoziante di cui ho fiducia.
 Questo è il computer con cui lavoro ogni giorno.

THE IMPERSONAL CONSTRUCTION

REFLEXIVE VERBS

The impersonal construction is formed by ci + si + verb in the third person singular.
Ci si diverte a fare la pasta con questa macchina.

IMPERSONAL SI + MODAL VERBS

If there is no direct object or if the direct object is singular, the construction is si + modal verb in the third person singular + infinitive.
Si può andare la domenica al centro commerciale.
 Se si vuole comprare un oggetto cult, questa lampada è perfetta!

If the direct object is plural, the modal verb is conjugated in the third person plural:
 Si possono acquistare i prodotti anche online.

If the verb is a reflexive verb, the construction is ci + si + the modal verb in the third person plural + infinitive.

Ci si deve abituare a fare gli acquisti online.

THE FORMAL IMPERATIVE

	AFFIRMATIVE	NEGATIVE
Lei	- are Usi la carta fedeltà - ere Legga le etichette - ire Parta la mattina	non usi la carta fedeltà non legga le etichette non parta la mattina
Voi	- are Usate la carta fedeltà - ere Leggete le etichette - ire Partite la mattina	non usate la carta fedeltà non leggete le etichette non partite la mattina

 The verbs which are irregular in the indicative present are also irregular in the imperative form.

	ESSERE	AVERE	SAPERE
tu	sii	abbi	sappi
Lei	sia	abbia	sappia
voi	siate	abbiate	sappiate

FORMAL IMPERATIVE WITH PRONOUNS

In the singular (Lei) the pronoun is placed before the verb.

- La newsletter dei saldi è pronta! La spedisco?
- No, Signor Martini, non la spedisca. Prima deve rileggerla il direttore. (negative)
- Bene signor Martini, la spedisca entro stasera. (affirmative)

In the plural, the formal Voi is as the informal imperative plural (voi) and follows the same rule: if affirmative, the pronoun is joined to the verb ending; if negative, we can either place the pronoun before the verb or join it to the verb ending.

• Riguardo all'acquisto nei mercati dell'usato, preferiteli / non preferiteli ai negozi tradizionali.

► p. 130

THE VERBS WITH TWO AUXILIARIES

Some verbs, given their transitive or intransitive use, use the auxiliary essere (intransitive) or avere (intransitive) when forming compound tenses. Here are some of these verbs: cominciare (to start, to begin), iniziare (to start, to begin), finire (to finish, to end), salire (to get in, to get on, to climb), scendere (to get out, to get off, to climb down), cambiare (to change)

L'itinerario è cominciato ai piedi dell'Etna.

Hanno cominciato il percorso a piedi dall'anfiteatro.*

Il viaggio è iniziato il primo agosto ed è finito il 15 settembre.

Eva ha cambiato il volo per motivi di lavoro.

AUXILIARIES OF THE VERBS: POTERE, DOVERE AND VOLERE

The verbs potere, dovere and volere, when forming compound tenses, require the auxiliary of the main verb.

► with an intransitive verb we use: essere

Siamo dovuti andare all'ufficio oggetti smarriti.*

► with a transitive verb we use: avere

Abbiamo voluto bere un caffè e poi siamo andati di corsa alla porta d'imbarco.*

Per fortuna abbiamo potuto prendere un pullman per Casablanca.

METTERCI AND VOLERCI

Volerci means "to be necessary, to need".

• 1Quanto (tempo) ci vuole per arrivare?

◦ 1Ci vorranno dieci minuti.

One of the meanings of metterci is "to employ a defined amount of time".

Il treno ci mette un'ora ad arrivare a Venezia.

ADVERBS ENDING IN -MENTE

By adding the suffix -mente to an adjective we obtain adverbs.

The adjectives ending in -o/a are made into adverbs from the feminine singular + the suffix -mente

ovvio → ovvia + mente → ovviamente

libero → libera + mente → liberamente

The adjectives ending in -e have only one form and they are made into adverbs adding the suffix -mente.

breve + mente → brevemente

The adjectives ending in -le or -re drop the ending letter -e.

facile + mente → facilmente

particolare + mente → particolarmente

MODIFIED ADJECTIVES AND NOUNS

It is possible to add suffixes to nouns and adjectives to change their meanings: quantity, quality, speaker's opinion.

-ino: diminutive
 ristorante → ristoranteino
 bella → bellina

-one: augmentative
 paese → paesone
 passeggiata → passeggiatona

PENSARE DI + INFINITIVE

This construction is used to express an intention.
Pensiamo di fare un giro per l'Italia quest'estate.

AVERE BISOGNO DI + NOUN / INFINITIVE

This construction is used to express a need.

Ho bisogno di andare in ferie perché sono molto stanco.
 Per andare negli Stati Uniti hai bisogno di un visto.

CONNECTORS OF CAUSE

The connectors perché, siccome, poiché, dato che and visto che are used to state a cause or reason.

*Non mi hanno fatto salire sull'aereo perché / poiché avevo il passaporto scaduto.
Visto che / Dato che volevo un ricordo del viaggio originale, sono andato nei negozietti di artisti locali.
 Abbiamo mangiato in una trattoria, dato che / visto che volevamo provare i piatti tipici.*

When we use siccome, the sentence which contains the cause is before the one containing the consequence.

Siccome a me piace conoscere persone che vivono nei luoghi che visito, uso sempre il couchsurfing.

CONNECTORS OF TIME

The connectors mentre, quando, intanto, nel momento in cui are used to identify an event in time.

Mentre eravamo nel volo Venezia-Roma ci hanno avvisato che l'aereo per Casablanca partiva dall'uscita 27.
Quando ci siamo resi conto che le nostre valigie non c'erano, siamo dovuti andare all'ufficio oggetti smarriti.
 Io ho fatto la denuncia e intanto mio marito ha telefonato all'albergo di Ischia per avvisare del ritardo.

- A. Work in groups. Read the list of different tourist typologies and think about what everyone enjoys doing.
- B. Write a description for each type of tourist: what they enjoy doing, where they like to go, how they plan and get ready for the trip. Include at least one picture for each description.
- C. Submit your descriptions to the class and compare them to your classmates'.

WORKING STRATEGIES

Before an oral presentation, rehearse several times. It will help you be more relaxed and confident about your speech.

Post the description on Tripadvisor or similar websites: it could serve as an inspiration to other travellers.

Raccontare un'esperienza di viaggio particolare o memorabile

- A. Think of a positive and a negative travel you experienced. Write down the place, episodes and details you wish to share.
- B. Now write the account of the journey. You may make it more interesting by adding pictures.
- C. Display your story in the classroom and read at least one other story written by a classmate.

WORKING STRATEGIES

Creating a mind map with all the various points you wish to address is an effective tool to organize the contents.

Share your story on a travel blog.

CI

LO SALVEREI COSÌ

Choose an element of your country's heritage (or of another country) which you think should be kept better and write what you would do to salvage it.

► p.142

4. Senso civico all'italiana

A. Look at this mind map on public spirit: what would you add? Then think about respectful behaviours which denote public spirit and discuss them with a classmate.

B. Here are some recommended behaviours in Italy to develop public spirit: which ones are also frequent in your country? Then decide if you would add any.

C. The highlighted parts in exercise B express obligation and need. Pay attention to the words which follow them.

D. Do you know other words used for expressing obligation and need? Find them in the text of exercise B and then compare and discuss them with a classmate.

E. Write down three behaviours which lack civic sense and three respectful ones which are common in your country. Then compare and discuss them with a classmate: did you write the same behaviours?

► p.143

F. An online magazine submits the question to their readers "How can civic sense in our society be improved?". Read the answers: do you agree? Discuss it with a classmate.

G. The tweets in exercise F offer useful vocabulary when talking about civic sense. Complete the following lists of words and then compare them with a classmate.

H. In Italy over 6 million people are involved in volunteer work. Read the following sentences and choose the ones you agree with. Then listen to Camilla's interview, a volunteer working in a refugee shelter, and compare your ideas.

I. Here are some volunteering activities: do you understand what they are about? Work in pairs and use the dictionary and/or the Internet. Take notes of the useful vocabulary relating to the activities which interest you the most.

L. What about you? Have you ever done or are you doing volunteer work? Would you like to? Say what activities you are / were involved in or would like to do.

CI SENSO CIVICO IN CLASSE

Work with a classmate. Write three examples of respectful behaviour for good coexistence in the classroom and three which are not. Share your suggestions with the class and together choose the most respectful and most disrespectful ones.

..... / / che + verb in the subjunctive

I. Read the article's title and subheading: what do you think happened? Discuss it with a classmate. Then listen to an art critic and check if your hypotheses were right.

L. Listen to the interview again and mark which of the following statements reflect the art critic's opinion.

M. Reassess the Bologna "incident" carefully from the Municipality viewpoint, which is in charge of promotion and conservation of artistic heritage, and Blu's, the mural artist. Who do you think is right? Write a short text.

CI ARTE O VANDALISMO?

Art or vandalism? Decide what your point of view is and find examples so to back up your arguments. Explain your opinions to your classmates.

GRAMMATICA

► p.146

THE PRESENT CONDITIONAL

MULTARE	METTERE	INVESTIRE
multere rei	mettere rei	investire rei
multere resti	mettere resti	investire resti
multere rebbe	mettere rebbe	investire rebbe
multere mmo	mettere mmo	investire mmo
multere reste	mettere reste	investire reste
multere rebbero	mettere rebbero	investire rebbero

ESSERE	AVERE
sare i	avre i
sare sti	avre sti
sare sti	avre bbe
sare mmo	avre mmo
sare ste	avre ste
sare ebbero	avre ebbero

 The verbs which are irregular in the conditional also show irregular forms in the future tense.

dovere → dovre i	sapere → sapre i fare → fare i	volere → vorre i
dire → dire i	vivere → vivre i
andare → andre i	vedere → vedre i

The present conditional is used to express hypotheses on the present and the future time, thus a representation of a hypothetical reality.

Lo Stato dovrebbe tutelare seriamente il patrimonio.

Multerei chi non rispetta la convivenza civile.

ORGANISING A SENTENCE

To begin a sentence:

innanzitutto, in primo luogo, prima di tutto, per prima cosa, per cominciare

To add information:

ma anche, poi, anche, e, inoltre

To close a sentence:

per concludere, infine, in conclusione

Per tutelare il patrimonio culturale, innanzitutto si dovrebbe organizzare un piano di restauro, poi ci vorrebbe più controllo sulle opere e inoltre è necessario valorizzare i beni. Infine bisognerebbe potenziare l'educazione civica a scuola.

EXPRESSING OBLIGATION AND NEED

In order to express need and obligation in an impersonal form, several constructions with the infinitive are used:

si deve / devono

bisogna, occorre

infinitive

è necessario / doveroso / indispensabile

Si deve ridurre la velocità nei centri residenziali.

Bisogna essere più solidali.

È doveroso aiutare le persone in difficoltà.

 Si deve punire il vandalismo.
Si devono punire i vandali.

THE PRESENT SUBJUNCTIVE

AIUTARE	COMMETTERE	INVESTIRE	FAVORIRE
aiut i	commet ta	invest a	favoris ca
aiut i	commet ta	invest a	favoris ca
aiut i	commet ta	invest a	favoris ca
aiut iamo	commett iamo	invest iamo	favori amo
aiut iate	commett iate	invest iate	favori ate
aiut ino	commett ano	invest ano	favorisc ano

ESSERE	AVERE
sia	abbia
sia	abbia

sia	abbia
siamo	abbiamo
siate	abbiate
siano	abbiano

The subjunctive is used when expressing a likely possibility though not a fact. The subjunctive verb form is generally in the subordinate clauses.

GIVING AN OPINION

Secondo me, i murales sono opere d'arte.

A mio avviso, occorre denunciare i vandali.

Dal mio punto di vista, il senso civico è indispensabile.

Penso che i graffiti siano atti incivili.

Credo che occorra promuovere la solidarietà tra concittadini.

When we use the indicative, we state something; when we use the subjunctive we do not make a statement. That's the reason why expressing opinions with secondo me, a mio avviso, dal mio punto di vista, makes them "stronger".
